Henna Tips 2013

Contrary to the traditional nature of henna, my designs are recreated and preserved onto a multitude of different products. This has allowed me to create a unique product range, which gives you an add personal touch by having the bride and grooms names, wedding date or a specially written message designed onto your favourite product. The eternal bliss of your wedding day will be encapsulated through a cherished product that will forever remind you of your special day. Our bespoke centrepiece candles are stunning and add a unique touch. Colours are a vital component of artwork and it is essential to coordinate the right colours which fit seamlessly with the theme of your wedding. With all the items so beautifully ornate, choosing which ones to commission is a decision you won't want to rush.
